

Students practice reading the guided reading texts independently as the teachers confers with each student.

These photographs show students integrating the sources of information (visual graphophonics, syntax, meaning). While reading the guided reading text. A bookmark with the reading cues is reminds students to integrate the cues.

